Exercise 2

RTC

The results equal to the stopwatch application because the serial monitor of the RTC program shows every second that the LED toggle and stop when the time is 2 minute.

Normal Delay Function

The results from the normal delay function does not match with the stopwatch application because the LED toggle is delayed with the value from the stopwatch application by half second.